

Camp Selhowtkan Crest

Guiding in many ways, and especially camping, builds skills upon skills.

Susan Dixon, Crest Designer. 2007

This crest was built on the same idea with a section for each level of Guiding, easily identified by the colour of the edging. The mountain evokes the image of Chief Selhowtkan.

The main crest section showing paddlers heading off on an overnight canoe trip, demonstrates the ultimate goal for the Guiding program: to provide girls with the skills and confidence to take on new adventures, both in camping and in the rest of their lives.

What is more exciting to a Spark than sitting around a campfire singing a song with their new friends?

Brownies can try a new adventure with the security of a roof over their heads at the Longhouse.

More independent Guides set up their own tents, build their own gadgets and practice flag ceremonies. The waterfowl symbolize respect for the environment and low impact camping.

Pathfinders build on their skills and add water activities such as canoe skills.

Senior Branches demonstrate their ability to go further afield both in their lives and in their camping. Overnight canoe trips across the lake with a buddy.

Crests may be ordered using the online form. The main section with the camp name is $1.50, all other sections are $1.00.
